

Dionysis Goutsos is Professor of Text Linguistics at the University of Athens. He has also taught at the University of Birmingham (UK) and the University of Cyprus. He has written several articles on text linguistics and discourse analysis, translation studies and corpus linguistics, has published several books in English and Greek and has edited volumes in Greek, English and French. He has been research co-ordinator of the projects developing the Corpus of Greek Texts (<http://www.sek.edu.gr>) and the Diachronic Corpus of Greek of the 20th Century (<http://greekcorpus20.phil.uoa.gr/>), as well as specialized corpora of spoken everyday conversations and the discourse of aphasic speakers (<http://aphasia.phil.uoa.gr/>).